SMART Exchange website

The SMART Exchange website brings content and community together in one online location. Teachers can quickly find relevant resources, share lesson material and exchange tips and success stories about using SMART products in the classroom. Whether they need images, videos, SMART Notebook files or lesson activities correlated to curriculum standards, teachers can be confident that the content they find on the SMART Exchange website is relevant to the topics they're teaching, based on sound pedagogical principles and customizable to meet their specific needs. The website has thousands of active members and is growing daily.

SMART Notebook lesson activities offer a quick and convenient way to get started with the SMART Board interactive whiteboard. Teachers can choose from more than 10,000 teacher-created and SMART-created lesson activities. Each one contains engaging and interactive content and is correlated to curriculum standards for all grade levels. Our lesson activities provide an ideal way to support differentiated or personalized instruction.

SMART Response question sets make it easy to add a new dimension to learning. Each set includes 10 questions created in SMART Response software that can be combined with lesson activities on the same topic. Thousands of SMART Response questions cover every subject and grade level, and each is correlated to curriculum standards. The question sets are free and can be found on the SMART Exchange website and other third-party sites.

Registering for the website also gives members access to the SMART Learning Space, a virtual learning environment where users can access, register for and manage SMART online training courses.

By joining this online community, you can quickly access subject-specific, standards-correlated content that can be modified to suit the needs of any classroom. You'll also be able to connect with colleagues locally or around the world to exchange lessons, ideas, insights and classroom success stories. Membership is free, so sign up today.

Becoming a member is quick, easy and free. Simply visit the SMART Exchange website to create your free account. Once you are a member, you'll be able to easily communicate with educators from around the world and have access to over 50,000 classroom-ready resources.
